'Rooted in love and growing together to become lifelong learners'

What a busy week we have had!

On Monday at 11:00am, we held our two minutes silence for Remembrance Day. We came together as a school family to watch the Last Post being played and then to have our 2 minutes of silence. Later in the day, Jasmy'n's dad came into school to talk to the children about the role he did when he was in the army. This was fascinating to listen to and it inspired some of our children to think about a career in the armed forces. Jen, from NLBC, also came into school on Monday and continued with the theme of Remembrance.

SIAMS Inspection

On Tuesday, we had our SIAMS inspection. The judgement given to the school is confidential until the report has been published; we will let you know as soon as we are able. The inspector was very impressed with our pupils and the way they can talk so confidently about the school's vision and values. After speaking to the older children, she said that our pupils thanked her for talking to them and she said in all her time as an inspector she had never been thanked by the children before. How lovely that our children are so well mannered! Thank you to all the grown ups who spoke to the inspector on Tuesday and for all the lovely things you said about our school.

Anti-bullying

Oak Class have been learning about anti-bullying this week. The children decided that having posters around school to explain what to do if they are being bullied would be a good idea. Isobel went away and made one at home. Thank you Isobel.

Congratulations

Savannah has been selected for the National Karate Association's elite Squad this year. The selection took into account her attitude and dedication to the martial art. Well done Savannah.

Thank You

Thank you for everyone who has donated money and cakes for Children In Need. We are still adding up the total and part of the children's challenge next week in maths is to work out how many metres of money they made (they measured lots of lines but need to add them all together). We will let you know how much money has been raised and how many extra minutes of playtime children have earned in next week's newsletter.

FREE Book Scheme

Mr Hodgson has registered our school for the Sun Collins Free Book Scheme. It runs from 23rd November to 18th January. If parents buy the Sun newspaper they'll get a token which schools can use towards new reading books for the children. Please can we have the tokens if you buy the Sun?

Weddings

In Acorn Class, following our learning about Christian & Jewish weddings, the children have asked if they can have a wedding themselves. This Wednesday, they are going to be acting out a ceremony. 'Vicar Freddie', a puppet who has been loaned to us from Michelle, will be officiating over the wedding.

Goodbye

We are very sorry to let you know that Mrs Jack, our wonderful cook, will be leaving us next Friday. We are very sad to hear we are losing her but wish her all the best in her new job. County Caterers will provide a replacement cook until they can appoint someone to join our school family.
